The Black Executive's Journey: Cultivating the Mind and Breaking The Black Ceiling

About The Program

Are you ready to be the captain of the ship? Are you ready to set the course that all will follow?

The Black Executive's route to the C-Suite is a high-stakes journey on a poorly illuminated path. But one advantage is the confidence and courage created by developing the skills necessary to navigate this unfavorable terrain. During this five-day leadership experience, Black executives will develop their minds and identify strategies to ascend to the peak of their organizations and careers. They will leave with the tools required to serve as the most senior leader responsible for the entire enterprise. Moreover, participants will leave this experience prepared to step into their purpose and lead with the authenticity, transparency, and strategy necessary to thrive as leaders and global visionaries.
